

To whom it may concern,

December 16, 2004

I had thought about selling my condo not too long ago but I wasn't sure about it. As I was looking at condos for sale in the area I ran into Jason. His confidence reassured me that our place could be sold for the price we wanted. Within two weeks a smooth, hassle free transaction had taken place for over our asking price. I am so pleased with Jason's dedication that he will be helping us with our new place.

Sincerely,
