Whether you're just testing the waters to see how much your house may be worth, or are actively looking to sell or purchase a new home, I can help!

While technology can be a great help, there's no substitute for experience. I would love to be your guide and to fill in the gaps that technology cannot provide: intimate knowledge of your neighborhood, recent local market trends and how they'll affect your specific situation. Also, if you're looking for help in other areas like financing or in prepping your home for sale, I can refer you to local people that I know and trust.

I'm looking forward to helping you with your real estate needs! Please don't hesitate to contact me.

Best regards,
